Coffees of India - Shade grown Sustainable Scintillating

MESSAGE

India is famous for its excellent coffees- shade grown, handpicked and sun dried. Indian coffees, typically mild, possess an exotic full bodied taste and a fine aroma.

2. India is among the top 10 coffee-producing countries with about 3% of the global output in 2020. It is among the largest coffee exporters globally, with exports to more than 50 countries including Italy, Germany, Belgium, Russian Federation, Libya, Poland, Jordan, Malaysia, Australia, Slovenia, Turkey and USA. India's global coffee exports in 2021-22 was over US$1 billion.

3. Coffee is a one of the main beverages in Bahrain and I am happy to know that the unique & diverse shade grown Indian coffee is widely available in Bahraini market.

4. Coffee Board of India has brought out this booklet containing information about Indian coffees including various regional GI-tagged varieties. I am sure that the readers will find it interesting and useful.

(Piyush Srivastava)

The World's best shade-grown 'mild' coffees

Indian coffee is the most extraordinary of beverages, offering intriguing subtlety and stimulating intensity. India is the only country that grows all of its coffees under shade. Typically mild and not too acidic, these coffees possess an exotic full-bodied taste and a fine aroma.

Indian coffee has a unique hostoric flavour too! It all began with a long arduous journey around four hundred years ago... when the legendary saint Bababudan 'brought' seven magical beans from distant Yemen and planted them in the Chandragiri hills of Karnataka. The sensations of aroma, flavour, body and acidity that you enjoy with each coffee experiences is rooted in these mystical beginnings.

It is often said, the Indian coffee grower pours his life into the crop. Is it any wonder then that India has consistently produced and exported a remarkable variety of high-quality coffees for over one hundred and fifty years!

We sing paraises to the divine cup

... whose flavour is an expression of spices amidst shade trees.

... whose fine aroma is reminiscent of wild flowers,

... whose body is symbolic of hands that tender lovingly.

Coffee growing regions of India

Coffee growing regions of India can be grouped under three distinct categories:

- Traditional areas representing the southern states of Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu.
- Non-traditional areas comprising Andhra Pradesh and Orissa in the Eastern Ghates of the country.
- The North Eastern region comprising the 'Seven Sister' states of Assam, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Tripura, Nagaland and Arunachal Pradesh.
- The plantations in the south are the cradle of Indian coffee. They include the Bababudangiris in Karnataka, known as the birthplace of coffee in India. The Eastern Ghats and the North Eastern states are newly developed areas of coffee.

Indian Specialty Coffees

The world of specialty coffee has developed with a level of sophistication comparable to that of a gourmet chef or wine connoisseur. Like the best wines or choicest cuisine, fine coffee is synonymous with refined taste. India offers the finest specialty coffees based on bold size, distinct color and flavour. From selective harvesting to careful handpicking of just-ripened berries... then, natural fermentation for flavour development followed by soaking the washed beans overnight for development of colour and flavour... to slow drying under the tropical sun, utmost attention is paid to every bean, enabling it to earn the distinction of a Specialty Coffee.

COFFEES OF INDIA: Preserving Nature

Home to colourful parrots, it is not unusual to see a flock of chattering red and green birds, darting through trees in this scenic valley.

The picturesque Eastern Ghats of northern Andhra Pradesh and southern Orissa are emerging as a newly developing coffee region, duly fulfilling the twin objectives of socio-economic upliftment of tribals and conservation of the environment by providing a sustainable alternative to the practice of shifting cultivation (Podu). The Arabica coffee plantations provide a welcome green cover to otherwise barren hills degraded by Podu cultivation.

The Arabica coffee of this region has medium body, medium to sharp acidity to intense aroma with a spicy tinge.

Saint Bababudan brought seven 'magical' beans from Yemen and planted them in the lofty hills of this region. Deer is often spotted here, grazing alongside plantations abundant with full-bodied Arabicas.

The birth place of coffee in India. The legendary saint Bababudan first planted seven coffee seeds during the 1600s here. This mountain range with elevation upto 1500 metres is home to high-grown Arabicas, which ripen slowly in the mild climate.

Selectively hand-picked and processed by natural fermentation, the cup exhibits full body, acidity, mild flavor and striking aroma with a note of chocolate, matching any high-grown, shaded coffee in the world.

Known as Coffee Country of India, Chikmagalur is home to thick jungles, wildlife sanctuaries, large coffee plantations and the Central Coffee Research Institute.

Here, Arabica varieties like S. 795 are nourished under a two-tier canopy of mixed shade comprising Erythrina Lithosperma as lower canopy and Albizzia, Ficus, Terminalia Bellarica are home to spices like pepper, cardamom and vanilla.

The cup reveals medium body, light acidity and flavor, with medium to intense aroma.

Best described as paradise on earth, Coorg is India's largest coffee producing district with an economy intricately linked to coffee cultivation. Home to brave warriors known as Kodavas, Coorg is also the main source of the river Cauvery revered for its mythological importance.

Coorg has the unique distinction of growing fine quality Arabicas and Robustas, with the highest productivity. Coffee is heavily inter-cropped with spices like black pepper and ginger.

The Arabicas have light acidity, slight flavor and intense aroma, while the Robustas are soft and neutral, with a hint of chocolate.

One of the northern districts of Kerala, Wayanaad is a popular tourist destination. Renowned for its wildlife and exotic vegetation, it is also the largest Robusta coffee producing region in the country. Fairly gentle sloping hills of medium elevation and rich laterite soil are well suited for fine quality Robusta coffees. The small coffee holdings of this region represent a library of plantation crops with all kinds of spices and condiments that are cultivated with staple foods like yam.

The CxR and S.274 Robustas of this region are known for being softish to neutral in cup, full-bodied, with a very intense aroma and a hint of chocolate.

Centuries ago, when coffee beans were transported to Europe in sailing ships, a wonderful accident occurred. monsoon winds caused the beans to swell, change color and acquire an intensely mellow flavor that won connoisseurs over. Today, this magic is recreated by monsooning the finest Arabica beans to produce a world famous specialty coffee.

The might and grandeur of the monolithic nandi bull statue on chamundi hills of mysore is reflected in these large, exotic arabica beans that make this rare, premium specialty coffee a connoisseur's delight.

These wonderful and exotic coffees are prepared from washed Arabicas grown in the regions of Chickmagalur Coorg, Biligiris, Bababudangiris and Shevaroys. The beans are very large, uniform bluish-green in color, with a clean polished appearance. In the cup, the coffee exhibits full aroma, medium to good body, good acidity and fine flavor, with a hint of spice. This is a rare, premium coffee and truly represents the best quality coffee from India.
